"THE SIMPLE LIFE."

A WORLD FAMOUS BOOK AND ITS AUTHOR, CHARLES WAGNER.

What President Roosevelt Says About the Volume-Interesting Career of the Disciple of Simplicity. How the Book First Made a Hit.

Charles Wagner, author of "The Simple Life," was practically made famous by President Roosevelt, author of "The Strenuous Life." Early in 1902 certain well known New York publishers brought out very quietly a translation of "The Simple Life." At first the book did not attract much attention, except among the literary few, but among the literary few was President Roosevelt. On him the little volume made such an impression that he referred to it in one of his public addresses as follows:

"The other day I picked up a little book called 'The Simple Life,' written by an Alsatian, Charles Wagner, and he preached such wholesome, sound doctrine that I wish it could be used as a tract throughout our country. To him the whole problem of our complex, somewhat feverish modern life can be solved only by getting men and women to lead better lives. He sees that the permanence of liberty and democracy depends upon a majority of the people being steadfast in that good, plain morality which as a national attribute comes only as the result of the slow and painful labor of centuries and which can be squandered in a generation by the thoughtless and vicious. He preaches the doctrine of the superiority of the moral to the material, but he insists, as we of this nation should always insist, upon the infinite superiority of the moral and the sordid destructtion which comes upon either the nation or the individual if it or he becomes absorbed only in the desire to get wealth."

This public commendation from the president of the United States, who was the author of a book that seemed the very antithesis of "The Simple Life," aroused public curiosity, and in a very short time there was a large demand for the volume.

Charles Wagner is a popular evangelist in Paris, and it seems the height of incongruity that such a work should come from such a source. As Grace King says in her biographical sketch: "From the great metropolis and sovereign seat of modern civilization, from the world's heart of sophistication, from Paris, the complex city, comes this volume of little essays upon the simple life. A limpid, bubbling spring, fresh and cool from its forest source, running down one of the boulevards would hardly appear more miraculous to the eye or more refreshing to the sense."

Wagner is a noted man in Paris, the kind of man whom people stare after in the streets. Among the dapper and undergrown Parisians he bulks large, with his great height and massive chest and shoulders. There are various legends, constituting a sort of little mythology, about his enormous physical strength and the feats supposed to have been achieved by him in his peasant days. For the rest he is described as a man of singular sweetness and straightforwardness of character, with a strong personal charm. He has a wide following, personal as well as ethical.

The early career of this noteworthy man is interesting. He is the son of a Lutheran minister of Alsace, born at Wiltzville, in the Vosges, on Sunday morning, Jan. 3, 1852, while his father was preaching in the village church. He was only seven years old when his father died, and yet he was the eldest of five children. The family moved to Phalsbourg, and there Charles labored in the fields and studied for the ministry. He was sent to Paris at fourteen and took a degree at the Sorbonne in 1869. He was a student of theology at the University of Strassburg during the Franco-Prussian war, and there he underwent a sort of spiritual revolution, losing his religious faith. He read Spinoza and found in that philosopher something to compensate for what he had lost, but two simple incidents led to the restoration of his religious life.

One was the first sight of the Alps. The mountains seemed to him God's witnesses. The other event was something that had happened to nearly everybody—simply the sight of his mother on returning home after a long absence. She was there, loyal to her duty, doing her daily work with tranquil energy, never wearied and never discouraged, and the very thought of her brought quietude, content, faith.

He went from Strassburg to Göttingen in 1875, and from there he returned to Alsace and became assistant pastor at the foot of Ste. Odille mountain. His native place had been taken into the Prussian territory, his pastorate was within the new German frontier, and for the first time the political change began to weigh on him. There was no sense of political oppression, but a consciousness that intellectual independence was not possible for him in the conquered provinces. He set to work, therefore, to master the French language, accepted a position at Remiremont, in the French Vosges, and in 1882 went to Paris, where he entered upon a successful career as a minister and a literary man. "The Simple Life" is the best known of several works that he has written, though "Youth and Courage" and "The Better Way" are fairly well known to American readers.

After President Roosevelt spoke in complimentary terms of "The Simple Life" such interest in the book and its author developed in America that Rev. Mr. Wagner came across the Atlantic to lecture. One of the first men he called upon was President Roosevelt, and concerning the visit he wrote the following for Success magazine:

"I was particularly struck with the simplicity of the home life of the president. To one accustomed to viewing the pomp and ceremony which surround the rulers of Europe there seems to be something notable in the entire lack of ostentation in the Roosevelt family. I was surprised at Mr. Roosevelt's habit of inviting to his private dining table those who are doing good work in the world quite regardless of what their power or social position may be. He looks to the man himself rather than to his appearance, and this is a brushing away of the superfluities which is rare in men of his position. In Washington I saw his boys starting to a public school, and one of them did not even bother to wear a hat. This, of course, was a small matter, but it impressed me. In Europe the children of a ruler with not one-tenth of the power of Mr. Roosevelt do not go to school at all, much less to a public school. They have a corps of private tutors and rarely venture into the streets except in elaborate equipages.

"The observation of complete simplicity in his personal and family life by the president of the United States, one of the most powerful rulers on earth, has a wholesome influence not only upon America, but also upon the world at large."

When he landed in New York not long ago Rev. Mr. Wagner said:

"I love the American people. I wanted to see them in their own country and to know them personally. To obtain that end I learned their language, and here I am."

He referred to the kind of English he was about to speak, saying he had studied the English language only a short while ago to tell the American people of simplicity, and that if any "accidents" occurred it would not be by premeditation.

"I know that you are saying in your hearts that it is not possible to live the simple life in this great city of rushing thought and energy, this city of tremendous activities and skyscrapers," he said, "but I tell you that it is."

"It is possible to live the simple life on the twenty-fourth floor of a New York skyscraper in the midst of all the noise and confusion. The simple life is not a thing of the first floor or the fourth, not of the shoes or the waistcoat, but of the heart."

"Once in Paris, that great city of dust and busy human life, I heard a lark singing in a garden. He was a prisoner, it is true. But when I heard him lifting up his voice to the blue sky and I remembered the freedom of the hills and the fields that had been mine as a boy, the walls and houses of the great city seemed to fade away, to stretch out and expand."

"I speak to you here in the center of one of the most tremendous cities in the world. I sing my song of simplicity like a lark in a cage—but it is a good place to sing it. The more I study your national character here in America, the more I look into the foundations of your government, the more I see of your stupendous energy, the more I realize that at the bottom of it all is the simplicity of your national character."

"I visited the White House at Washington. I found there nothing of the grandeur of the homes of kings and kaisers, but the pure simplicity of a great people expressed in the home of a chief executive. I was a guest of your president. I pressed his hand, and I had many long talks with him upon the great questions of the day. And again I felt that a splendid simplicity was at the root of your national character. Stay true to your traditions; be true to your convictions. The human race demands it of you."

Dr. Wagner told how he came to write "The Simple Life." He was called upon while a pastor in Paris to marry a workman and his sweetheart. One of the six witnesses was the daughter of a great politician.

"I talked to them upon the beauty of living simply," he said. "A few days afterward the young lady came to me to ask me to perform her marriage, and she asked me to give just the same talk that I had to the workman. There were to be 2,000 people present, including the greatest diplomats, the greatest politicians and the leaders in the intellectual and social life of Paris."

"I consented and talked to them simply and straightforwardly upon the simple life. There was a publisher present, as there always is, and the next day he asked me to write 'The Simple Life.' I did, and it has gone through the world everywhere. As for me, I intend to remain a boy, with a boy's heart, till I am an old man."

The author-clergyman's chapel in the Boulevard Beaumarchais, Paris, has grown from a quaint little upper room and is now too small to hold the crowds that flock to hear him, and generally more than 1,000 persons are turned away from the doors on Sunday.

FAVORING DEPEW

Conference of New York Republicans Has a Look of Finality.

IT WOULD BE A CRIME

Said Some of the Speakers, to Turn Down the Senator at This Stage of the Game.

Gov. Odell, Who Stands For Black's Candidacy, Was Not Invited to the Meeting.

New York, Dec. 22.—The conference of Republicans called by United States Senator Thomas C. Platt in the interest of the re-election of United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew by the coming state legislature, was held according to program at the Fifth Avenue hotel. It was in session about three hours and adjourned without day after appointing a committee of seven, headed by ex-Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, to wait upon Governor Odell, who was not invited, and inform him of the sentiment as expressed at the conference.

The conference was attended by seventy-five well-known Republicans, most of them classed as being in favor of Senator Depew, but there were also not a few who are believed to be opposed to his candidacy. The speeches made in the conference were almost without exception strongly in favor of Senator Depew's re-election. No vote was taken and estimates of the numerical classification of those present vary with the sympathies of those estimating.

After the conference Senator Platt declared himself as greatly pleased with its character and personnel. "I am proud of it," said he. "It was truly representative, and clearly showed what I have all along claimed—that the sentiment of the people of the state is strongly for the re-election of Senator Depew. I imagine its result may be to tone down Mr. Odell."

Senator Platt himself called the conference to order. Nearly all of the speeches definitely deprecated anything in the nature of a fight, and the plea for a harmonious solution of the senatorship question characterized the conference. Chairman Barnes, the first speaker, spoke in favor of Mr. Depew's re-election, declaring that to remove him from the senate "after his long service would be a disturbing factor in the politics of the state."

Senator Raines devoted a considerable portion of his extended remarks to a declaration of cordiality toward Governor Odell and ex-Governor Black. He held the welfare of the Republican party to be of importance.

"If the contest which appears to be pending now," he continued, "is carried out to the last issue and the utmost force is exerted by those who appear to be behind Governor Black and those who appear to be behind Mr. Depew and Mr. Depew should be abandoned. I fear that two years from now, even next fall in the city of New York and two years from now in the state, whatever chances or prospects the Republican party may see before them today, those prospects will be dissipated and we would be in the minority."

Mr. Woodruff spoke several times, always strongly for Mr. Depew's re-election, which he declared was demanded by the overwhelming sentiment in Kings county.

Said he: "I have not heard a single person say that he was in favor of the election of ex-Governor Black; but I have heard men say that it would be nothing short of a crime not to re-elect Chauncey M. Depew. I believe that the Republican party in the state and in the United States will be seriously injured if Senator Depew is defeated. The people of the state, among them the people of the county of Kings, felt that in the last campaign they were voting for Chauncey M. Depew for senator, just as much as they were voting for Higgins for governor."

BOARD IS ANXIOUS

Cass County Commissioners and Treasurer's Bondsmen In Turmoil.

COMPLICATIONS RAISED

Two Methods of Adjusting the Losses Created by Treasurer's Default Are Suggested.

Board Anxious For Bondsmen to Acknowledge Responsibility and Save Litigation.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 22.—Bondsman of the defaulting Treasurer Obenchain are in session with the county commissioners, endeavoring to adjust the plan of making good the shortage. Some of the bondsmen stubbornly contend that the county shall first exhaust the Obenchain securities, and a few are disposed to settle and then go after Obenchain's property for what they can get. The commissioners have been so sharply criticized that the board is anxious for the bondsmen to acknowledge the responsibility and relieve the county of litigation. Since Obenchain's peculations have extended over two terms, the sureties on both bonds are liable, and the inability to accurately classify the shortage adds to the confusion and discussion.

KIDNAPPED BOY FOUND

Tramps Were Holding a Greensburg Lad for Ransom.

Greensburg, Ind., Dec. 22.—Shivering in a shanty near the railroad at North Vernon, Foley Brazelton, son of C. F. Brazelton, the fourteen-year-old schoolboy who disappeared from his home in this city ten days ago, was found in company with a tramp by detectives in the employ of the B. & O. Railroad company.

He was brought to his home at this city, where he is now recovering from the effects of his exposure. Since his disappearance the boy had been traced over southeastern Indiana, Ohio and in Kentucky. When he was found with the tramp who had enticed him away from home the tramp attempted to escape and submitted to arrest only after a desperate struggle.

The tramp gave his name as Clarence Shaw and said his home is at Syracuse, N. Y. He is in jail in this city with Jack Riley, another tramp implicated in the alleged kidnapping. The boy said he left Greensburg with the two tramps and he asserted that they compelled him to beg food and clothing for them. He said they had promised to take him South. The tramps have confessed that they intended to hold the boy for ransom.

Blaricon Trial in Progress.

Greenfield, Ind., Dec. 22.—The trial of Charles B. Blaricon for the murder of Robert Frazier at Maxwell, continues in the circuit court. A pathetic feature of the trial is the presence in the courtroom of Blaricon's wife and their four pretty children, the eldest only five years old. The little ones play about the railing, unconscious of the tragedy hanging over their lives. They seem devoted to their father, and whenever opportunity presents they run to caress him.

A $200,000 Blaze.

Peru, Ind., Dec. 22.—The Peru Steel Casting company sustained a loss of $200,000 in the destruction by fire of its immense plant on a twenty-five-acre tract a mile west of the city limits. The plant was rated as the biggest and best-equipped casting mill in Indiana, and comprised five large buildings, one 600 feet long and 80 feet wide, and nine small structures. Only four little buildings and the walls of the large structure are left standing.

Going After Selma Looters.
Muncie, Ind., Dec. 22.—As the result of the "looting" at Selma during the progress of the big fire Sunday night, Patrick Murphy, Richard Lavella and James Murray, members of the robber gang, numbering fifty and more, that carried away thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise, have been sentenced to prison on pleas of guilty to larceny. At least 100 persons, fearing prosecution, have left Selma.

Malpractice Is Charged.
Winamac, Ind., Dec. 22.—The grand jury has returned an indictment against Dr. Eugene McMurray, a young physician of Francesville, Pulaski county, accused of manslaughter. Dr. McMurray was arrested on a bench warrant, and he gave bond in $2,500 for appearance when the trial was set down. The indictment springs from alleged malpractice, resulting in the death of a patient.

Recognized His Own Condition.
Muncie, Ind., Dec. 22.—Peter Stevens, a resident of this city for twenty years and a member of six fraternal societies, asked for the appointment of a commission to determine his mental condition, expressing the belief that he was not of sound mind. The commission found him to be insane, a verdict with which he expressed hearty concurrence. A guardian will be appointed.

Angola, Ind., Dec. 22.—The trial of John J. Kinney, ex-banker, on an indictment alleging embezzlement, is on in the Steuben circuit court.

A Jealous Lover's Crime.
Loeport, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Fred Jones of Charlottesville shot and killed Constable William C. Gray and Mrs. Abbie Goodrich, a widow. He then turned the revolver upon himself and fired a bullet into his brain. Jones was a rejected suitor for Mrs. Goodrich's hand. He is twenty-eight years old and Mrs. Goodrich is fifty-four.

AT THE TOP.

It is a laudable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success. A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine to turn to. $3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. "For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not get for a long time bear any solid food in my stomach; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep nor follow my occupation. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1904.

In one Southern state an empty poorhouse has been sold at public auction. Evidently the South does not expect more of the kind of times it has been trying to vote upon the country for a long while.

The general assembly to convene on Jan. 5 will be one of the most important in the history of the state. The size of the Republican majority in both branches of the legislature should only serve as a special incentive to avoid rash and ill considered legislation.

The interviews and communications from members of the legislature seem to indicate that most of them are going to the capital with their pockets full of bills. To prevent most of these bills from becoming laws will likely become the patriotic duty of the majority.

ONE of our patrons came in this morning and paid us twenty cents for a "for sale" notice inserted two days ago, stating that for that small amount of money he found a buyer for a horse he had for sale. In the same way he also sold a horse six months ago. That man knows that judicious advertising pays.

"INVECTIVE and vilification" characterized a meeting of the Prohibition national committee at Chicago on Dec. 15th, when National Chairman O. H. Stewart was forced from his position and John G. Woolley, who would have been president if the prohibitionists had carried the country in 1900, was condemned for "reprehensible conduct." The committee spent Dec. 16th in fighting noisily over other matters affecting the last campaign. Intemperance is a great curse and as a sample of what intemperate speech and intemperate actions will do in the way of offending prohibitionists against prohibitionists and causing enmity where there has been friendship we cite you to this last meeting of the Prohibition meeting at Chicago.

TWICE REVERSED.

Portable Pantry Case Has Been the Rounds Twice.

The case of the Peoples State Bank vs. Hallock C. Jones, better known as the "portable pantry" case has gone the rounds twice. That is it has been twice tried and twice reversed by the appellate court.

The suit grew out of one of those portable pantry contracts which took a good many thousands of dollars out of this county, but so far as heard from the returns were next to nothing. The suit was originally filed in this county and was for the purpose of collecting two promissory notes for $150 each. The case was used first to Washington county and later venue to Bartholomew county. It was tried and judgement rendered for the plaintiff.

An appeal was taken and the case was reversed and sent back for retrial. It was tried the second time and again the verdict was for the plaintiff. An appeal was taken and again the appellate court reversed Judge Ford.

The case came up for trial the third time at Columbus Wednesday but was continued owing to the unavoidable absence of some necessary witnesses.

HOOSIER SANTA CLAUS

Political Aspirants Look to Senator Beverage for Gifts.

Indianapolis, Dec. 22.—Senator Albert J. Beverage came home yesterday to spend the Christmas holidays, and several score of patriots who want to serve their country—at so much per serve—have been camping on the trail of the junior senator (soon to be senior), ever since he reached the city. The senator issued a statement before starting from Washington to the effect that he was "coming home to rest, and not to be bothered about the postmaster's office or any other matter of patronage," but a little thing like that doesn't dampen the ardor of the real, self-sacrificing patriot who is after a federal appointment, and the men who are willing to give up their time and energy for the good of the country, and the incidental salary, are looking upon the senator as a sort of Santa Claus, who has dropped in on them just in time to drop some coveted plum or other into their stockings.

When Indiana people read a few months ago the opening chapters of Thomas W. Lawson's articles on "Frenzied Finance," printed in an Eastern magazine, they had little idea that the fight started then by the Boston broker would extend to this state and that the gaze thrown down by the man who set out to expose the alleged crookedness of the Standard Oil company and other gigantic financial interests would be taken up in Hoosierdom's courts. Information received in Indianapolis, however, is to the effect that proceedings for restraining orders and for criminal libel will be brought by the Standard Oil in the courts of every state in the Union, and that in a very short time the general and local counsel for the oil combine will file their papers in the courts here. The suits are directed at Thos. W. Lawson of Boston; the Ridgway-Thayer company, publishers of Everybody's Magazine, New York, and the American News company, distributors, who attend to the handling of the publication and its distribution to the newsdealers of the country. It is stated that the suits will be fought to the bitter end.

From all that can be learned among members of the next legislature here in Indianapolis and at other points near by, there is little chance for the success of a bill to be introduced at the coming session extending the terms of city officials in cities not having special charters. It is said by a number of influential members that such a bill, to take effect in, say, four or six years, might stand a show of being enacted, but that a plain attempt to lengthen the terms of men now holding office will certainly be "turned down." The plan was started by John O. Willson, newly elected clerk of Marion, and has the support of city clerks, treasurers and mayors in a number of the smaller cities over the state.

Prominent Masons from all over the state will be present next Tuesday night, when Vice President-elect Fairbanks is initiated into the mysteries of the order at Oriental lodge in this city. The affair has been made an invitation to all, and only those bearing cards will be allowed to watch the tall Hoosier statesman in his struggles with the Masonic goat. An effort was made to have President Roosevelt here for the initiation, but he will be unable to come West.

UP IN ARMS

Indiana School Teachers Resent Imputation of Incompetency.

Indianapolis, Dec. 22.—School teachers of Indiana are up in arms over the speech of John M. Bloss of Delaware county, late president of the State Association of Township Trustees. In his speech yesterday Mr. Bloss declared that Indiana has not enough competent teachers to properly "man" the schools of the state, and that a great number of teachers now employed are drawing far more money than they are able to earn. Mr. Bloss in his speech advised that trustees take pains to secure good teachers, even if they have to go outside the state to get them; and this latter he said would in many instances be necessary. Teachers who heard the speech are outspoken in their condemnation of Mr. Bloss' statements, and say that this attitude on the part of township trustees and others having in charge the employment of teachers is responsible for the present wage scale in force in the state's public schools.

Now in the Jury's Hands.

New York, Dec. 22.—Mr. Rand concluded his argument in the Nan Patterson case at 5:30 last evening and Justice Davis cautioned the jurors, told them to keep their judgment suspended on the issues of the case. Adjudgment was then taken until this morning, when Justice Davis delivered his charge, and the case was given to the jury.

Turf Led to Downfall.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—John R. McFee, a lawyer once in good standing in Chicago, was sentenced to the penitentiary on one of several charges of forgery. McFee is alleged to have secured nearly $40,000 by forgery. Much of the money was squandered in extravagant indulgence and on the racetracks.

RECTOR OF ST. LUKE'S,

Ashburnham, Ontario, Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

ASHBURNHAM, Ont., April 19, 1903. —I think it is only right that I should tell you what a wonderful effect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has produced. The day before Easter I was so distressed with a cold and cough that I did not think to be able to take any duties the next day, as my voice was almost choked by the cough. The same day I received an order from you for a bottle of your cough remedy. I at once procured a sample bottle, and took about three doses of the medicine. To my great relief the cough and cold had completely disappeared and I was able to preach three times on Easter day. I know that this rapid and effective cure was due to your cough remedy. I make this testimonial without solicitation, being thankful to have found such a Good Remedy.

Respectfully yours,
E. A. LANGFELDT, M. A.
Rector of St. Luke's Church.

"A Trip to Chinatown."

Charles Hoyt's famous satirical comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown," will be the attraction at the opera house Friday evening.

"A Trip to Chinatown" enjoyed the distinction of being the only farce comedy that ever played an entire season in New York City. One of the secrets of its great success is in the fact that it contains more pure, wholesome fun, witty lines, and ridiculous situations than can be found in three or four ordinary comedies.

This season an entirely new musical setting, consisting of the latest popular successes and a first class company of comedians is promised.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be restored forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

WALNUT LOGS.

Stanfield And Carlson Load Two More Cars For Export.

The Stanfield-Carlson Hardwar Company loaded two more cars of walnut logs Thursday for export to Hamburg Germany. One was loaded at Medora and the other one here.

This makes five cars of these logs that they have exported recently. This is very valuable timber and the price paid for it is enormously high.

Many of these logs, probably the most of them, were during the low stage of the water taken from the bed of White river, where they had been buried in the sand many years. Some very valuable logs were also taken from Sand Creek. Those who have marketed these logs have realized good money for them.

Walnut timber is getting so scarce that there is a strong demand for all that is placed on the market.

TWO SIDES TO IT

Mrs. Sheldon's Statements Criticised by Returned Missionary.

New York, Dec. 22.—The Rev. L. C. Vass, who spent more than five years in the Congo Free State, says that the statement made by Mrs. French Sheldon in London recently that she had made a trip of a year on the Congo and had seen no more atrocities than she had seen in the streets of London, was entirely natural in view of the fact that Mrs. Sheldon traveled as a guest of the government on beaten highways. Mr. Vass says it would have been difficult for Mrs. Sheldon to see any misconduct of officials or such atrocities as he and others had seen, because she was watched during her stay there and during her trips on government boats.

They Want Out of Jail.
Denver, Dec. 22.—Each of the twenty-three men now serving sentences in jail for contempt of court in the election cases has filed a petition for a rehearing and alleviation of sentence. The grounds upon which they are based are solely technical, the principal one being a challenge of the right of the supreme court, to assume jurisdiction of the election.

LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN

Anti-Saloon League Wants More Help From Congress.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 22.—The executive committee of the American Anti-Saloon League met here and outlined plans for a legislative campaign. It was determined to make a fight for the retention of the anti-canteen law, sufficient additional appropriation to complete army post reservation halls, for effective prohibition legislation for Indian Territory should it be granted statehood, the passage of the Hopburn-Dolliver bill to prohibit the shipping of liquor into the new territory. The league will insist upon a fairer test of the anti-canteen law. This it was claimed has not been given the statute. The league will ask for an appropriation of $25,000 of congress to build and complete the recreation halls at various army posts, which are intended in a way as a substitute for the canteen. There are seventy such buildings. Some, however, have not been completed, and it is to finish these that the money is chiefly needed. The American League will assist the New York organization in a plan which it has under way to secure local and district local option enacted for the empire state. It is proposed to model them after the Beal and Brannock laws of Ohio.

MURDER AND ROBBERY

So many Have Been the Crimes Charged Against Redskins That Vigilance Committee Will Act.

Canadian Indians Slip Across the Border on Missions of Robbery and Violence.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 22.—Incensed over a large number of murders and robberies that have been committed recently by Canadian Indians in the northern part of Itasca county near the international boundary, the settlers and homesteaders, according to Enoch Leighton, a settler, who has arrived here, have formed themselves into a vigilance committee for the purpose of avenging the deaths of some of their comrades.

The latest tragedy in the north country which has come to light is that of a settler, Thomas McKinsley, aged eighty, who while alone in his cabin at Pelland, was attacked by two Indians and in order to protect himself, the old man fired, killing one of them. The other fled across the line and informed his fellow braves, with the result that McKinsley's life is now menaced. He has appealed to the authorities for protection. Dan Cameron, a fur trader, was shot to death several days ago near Mine Center, and Waki-Ti-Horse, a Dominion reservation Indian, is now held at Fort Francis, charged with the crime.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK

Reform Measures Not Well Received by Russian Council.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 22.—Emperor Nicholas is holding council daily at Tsarsko-Selo, at which it is understood the internal situation in Russia is being thoroughly discussed. Among those who are attending the councils are Grand Duke Michael, the brother of the emperor; ministers and members of the council of the empire, including Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, minister of the interior; M. Witte, president of the ministerial council; M. Pobodostoff, procurator general of the holy synod; M. Muraviev, minister of justice; M. Korkevitoff, minister of finance; Count Vorontzoff-Dashkoff, head of the Russian Red Cross; Count Solsky and M. Ernloff Fritsch, Richter and Hesse. Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky laid before the council the addresses and resolutions adopted by the congress of Zemstvos which was held here last month. Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, M. Witte and Count Solsky favored a policy of concession, but the others opposed such a policy on the ground that the demand of the zemstvos were subversive of the essential principles of the autocracy. In the opinion of the council it is not the time to entertain proposals looking to a change in the existing form of government while war is in progress, and it was decided to discourage political agitation. Measures will be drawn up relative to the distress consequent upon mobilization.

Complication for Letter Carriers.

Washington, Dec. 22.—It is understood that a meeting of the executive board of the National Association of Letter Carriers, comprising the carriers in the city service, will be called immediately after the Christmas holidays to take action in connection with the recent dismissal of President Keller of that organization, from the government service. The meeting is made necessary by the fact that Keller, having been dismissed as a carrier, will not be received or recognized in any way at the postoffice department and his power as head of the association thereby will be seriously crippled.

Small Creditors Act.

New York, Dec. 22.—Application has been made by small creditors to have nearly $3,000,000 worth of claims against Daniel J. Sully & Co. set aside.
